Gerald Ford President's choice

Swift confirmation seen

WASHINGTON

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, a team player from the college gridiron to Congress, was nominated Friday to be the next vice president of the United States.

President Nixon, ending 72 hours of hot speculation and uncertainty that followed the unwilling resignation of Spiro Agnew, announced his choice in a precedent-setting speech in the White House East

The president made no mention in his remarks of Agnew, who resigned in disgrace Wednesday, pleading no contest to an income tax evasion charge to avoid possibility of a prison sentence.

By his selection of Ford, the President hinted that he hopes to begin the recovery of his scandal-plagued administration's fortunes, which began to sag with the revelations about Watergate shortly after the beginning of his second term.

"It is vital that we turn away from the obsessions of the past and turn toward the challenges of the future," Nixon said in apparent reference to those misfortunes and Agnew's tragedy. "It is time for a new beginning in which we dedicate ourselves to the tasks of meeting the challenges we

Ford's nomination was the first to be made under the 25th Amendment to the Constitution, passed by Congress in 1967, which set forth the manner of replacing vice presidents unable to complete their terms.

Most of the speculation that followed Agnew's resignation centered around the difficulty a highly partisan Republican President, deeply at odds with Congress over a wide spectrum of political issues, might have in winning approval from a Democratic Congress for his choice.

The selection of Ford virtually eliminated the possibility of confronta-lion or deadlock in congressional hearings and the debate to follow.

But members of Congress, concerned over the precedent and procedures they will be establishing in this first use of the 25th Amendment, will nevertheless subject Ford to

Agnew TV talk Monday

WASHINGTON—P —Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will address the American people on television Monday night to explain the events leading to his resignation, it was announced Friday

Agnew will deliver his remarks from the National Broadcasting company's studios in Washington, NBC sources said.

In the speech, which Agnew promised after he resigned and pleaded no contest to a felony charge of federal income tax evasion on Wednesday, the former vice president is expected to deny a series of other allegations detailed against him by the Department of Justice.

The allegations were based on information gathered in the federal grand jury probe of political corruption in Maryland where Agnew was once a county executive and later governor. They were released publicly as part of the arrangements leading to his resignation and no contest plea on the tax

Agrew was sentenced to a $10,000 fine and three years' probation and the government agreed to withhold prosecution on the other charges, which include bribery, extortion and conspiracy

The Monday night speech, while handled by NBC, will be seen on CBS and ABC as well. All three networks offered Agnew free time.

Announcement of the plans came shortly after President Nixon announced he would nominate Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan as Agnew's successor. The former vice president has been working on the address since Thursday morning, and it was indicated by aides that he would make it as soon as possible because he was eager to get out of the political limelight following his resignation.

Agnew has been given an indefinite period by Nixon to tie up loose ends of his affairs. His staff members were advised they would be kept on the payroll another month.

Appeals court ruling

Nixon ordered to surrender tapes

A federal appeals court Friday rejected President Nixon's bid to keep secret his Watergate tapes and said they must be submit-ted to a grand jury after editing for relevance by a federal judge.

Assuring a historic executive-judiciary con-frontation that will have to be settled by the Su-preme Court, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered Nixon to surrender his secret tape recordings relating to the scan-dal to chief U.S. district Judge John J. Sirica.

Material relating to national defense or foreign relations may be withheld, the appeals court ruled, but even it will be subject to scrutiny by Sirica to make sure that the claim is valid.

War-power showdown voted

WASHINGTON - Congress forced a showdown with President Nixon over his war powers Friday as the House overwhelmingly approved limits on a president's power to commit combat forces overseas. The House sent the measure to President Nixon's near-certain veto by a vote of 238 to 123, which only three votes short of the twothirds vote needed to override a veto. High absenteeism clouded the vote as a true test of whether Congress could overrid a veto. The Senate approved the bill Wednesday by 75 to 20, well over the Grain harvests off

WASHINGTON - The size of the 1973 corn crop was reported down 5 million bushels from last month's estimate and the wheat crop was down 700,000 bushels from September estimates - an indication of the outlook for future food supplies and prices — the Agriculture Department said Friday. The department's regular October crop report estimated a record 5.7 billion bushels of corn on the basis of Oct. I conditions, down 5 million bushels from last month's forecast. The report also showed that production of all livestock feed grains combined rose slightly from last month, but forecasts for cotton, soybeans and spring wheat all were off slightly. Corn is the nation's basic livestock feed grain and fluctuations in prices of feed strongly affect meat

The bomb exploded as McAdam led Mrs. Nicholl from the store, killing him instantly.

Hefty kidnap demand

MEXICO CITY - Kidnapers have threatened to kill a British honorary consul and a rich industrialist from Guadalajara unless 51 political prisoners are released from Mexican jails and a $200,000 ransom is paid. The kidnapers of honorary consul, Dr. Anthony Duncan Williams, and Fernando Arenguren Castiello made their demands known late Thursday night in a communique to a national television network. The released prisoners were to be sent to North Korea, the communique said. A list of prisoners the kidnapers wanted released included a known Communist leader and the alleged slayers of Monterey industrialist Eugenic Garza Sada who died with four others in a kidnap attempt last month.

Recruits fall short

WASHINGTON - For the eighth consecutive month since the draft was discontinued, the Army failed in September to reach its recruitment goals, the Pentagon announced Friday. The Pentagon report also said 30 per cent of the Army's recruits were black--almost double the percentage of blacks in the general population. It was the third consecutive month that blacks have com-prised 30 per cent or more of the Army's recruits.

Financial juggling

WASHINGTON - The administra-tion Friday sent to Congress a proposed reorganization of the country's financial institutions that would do away with many of the present differences between banks and savings and loan associations. There was one major change in the proposed bill from what had previously been announced. This is a "truth in savings" feature requiring financial institutions to provide more information to depositors. Other major provisions include phasing out of all interest rate ceilings over a 51/2-year period for both banks and savings and loan associations, authority for savings and loan associations to provide checking account services, tax credit for both thrift institutions and banks to encourage home mortgage lending, and authority for thrift institutions and banks to engage in negotiated order of withdrawal accounts in which a saver can use his savings account like a checking account and still receive interest on it.

Typhoon fizzles out

MANILA — Typhoon Patsy, the second such storm to hit the Philippines in five days, slammed into the mountains of northeastern Luzon Island Friday and quickly lost its strength. Weathermen said Patsy was downgraded to a tropical storm when its encounter with the mountains dropped her winds to 50 miles per hour, about one third of its strength when it hit the main island of the archipelago.

Oil ration contingency

TOKYO — Japan's minister of inter-national trade and industry, Yashuhiro Nakasone, said Friday that the government might have to impose controls on oil consumption here if the Middle East war is prolonged. The mideast is Japan's major source of petroleum supplies. Meantime, officials of the foreign ministry said they were investigating the circumstances under which a Japanese ship was allegedly bombed by Israeli airplanes in the Syrian port of Latakia Thursday.

The group, which was organized by teachers op-posed to the 1970 Los Angeles teachers strike, is an association which lobbies against what it terms "compulsory unionism" in the teaching profession, according to Timothy Riley, executive director of the organization. "We believe that a teacher has a right to decide for himself if he wishes to be represented by a union or not. Compulsory unionism degrades the teaching profession and makes students the victims of strikes brought on by the demands of labor organizers," he said. The PEG is opposing such legislation as the pending bill AB 1243 which, it claims, would bring compulsory unionism to California teachers, although the CTA denied this. The Los Angeles Harbor Department and the state attorney general's office met Friday to hammer out an agreement which would avert the threatened shutdown of three Terminal Island canneries - but results were incon-

After a 2½-hour meeting in Los Angeles, Depu-ty Atty. Gen. Edward J. Dubiel would say only that he and Jack L. Wells, deputy city attoriega the Harbor Department had arrived at an agreement whereby the depart ment would be in full compliance with a stateissued order to stop and desist pollution of Los An-geles Harbor. The executive officer of the Regional Water Quality Control Board, Los Angeles Re-gion, Raymond V. Hertel, in an earlier meeting of the water board, declared the Harbor Department was in violation of the cease and desist order.

Despite the agreement reached by the two attorneys, Dubiel did not rule out the possibility that he might be forced to go into Superior Court and seek atemporary restraining order that could result in a shutdown of the can-

Asked for details con-cerning the tentative agreement reached by the two attorneys, Dubiel said:

"Those won't be available until both of us have had the opportunity to discuss them with our respective clients."

During a mid-morning meeting of the water qual-ity board, Hertel, said that an agreement which would have prevented the closure of the canneries had been refused by the Harbor Department.

Asked why the Harbor Department had refused to agree to the compromise offer, the legal adviser to the department said:

The agreement called for the department to pay a $6,000 penalty and agree to abide by the cease and desist order, and the only way we could be certain we were not violating the order would be to down our pipelines and pumps, thus causing the eanneries to shut down. The Harbor Department operates and maintains pipelines and pumps that collect fish processing waste water. The pipelinedischarge is located in waters adjacent to Fish Harbor. Engineers for the state water board have charged the receiving waters are so low in dissolved oxygen that a fish kill could result.

Meanwhile, the Harbor Department has petitioned the State Board of Water Resources, asking for a review of Hertel's actions on the grounds that it is the canners, and not the Harbor Department that should be cited for violation of the cease and desist order. It was not known when the state board would consider that Dubiel, following his meeting with Wells, de-clined to say when, or if, he would go into court to seek a temporary restraining order.

"Both of us must go back to our clients to seek direction as to how they wish us to proceed," Dubiel said.

'Vice President' Ford, Nixon long-time pals

WASHINGTON -- When Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was castigated on the floor of the House of Representatives years ago as being an Representatives two "intellectual sadist." "the buffoon of the year," and a "clown." the Republican who rose to his de-fense was the minority leader, Gerald Rudolph ·Ford.

In attacking the Demo cratic representative William Clay of Missouri, who made the charges, Ford said "I cannot imagine somebody in this body on either side of the aisle using language of that kind on the floor of the House in reference to the second ranking member of the United States gov-ernment."

Friday night Ford himself was nominated for that office after serving eight years as Republican quarterback in the House.

The football analogy with politics makes sense in Ford's case. The broadshouldered six-footer was the star center for the University of Michigan teams of 1932-34. He later worked his way through Yale Law School as an assistant football coach.

President Nixon is re ported to have told a col-league that "Gerry Ford is a hell of a nice guy when he was playing football they played with leather helmets."

The President and his 60-year-old vice presidential nominee have been extremely close over the past quarter century. They first met when they served as young Republican representatives together. Nixon was elected in 1946. Ford was elected

When Nixon was nominated for the presidency during the 1960 Republican National Convention Ford was mentioned frequently as a vice presidential nominee. He lost to Henry Cabot Lodge. But remained in close louch with Nixon during his eight years out of political office.

When Nixon staged his comeback in 1968, Ford turned up in Miami Beach as the permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention, where he could help his old friend wrest the presidential nomination from Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Gov. Reagan of California.

Ford has backed the President down the line of even the most controversial of issues, such as the nomination of Clement Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell to the Su-preme Court. He has pushed ahead with construction of the supersonic transport and refused to cut defense spending as

Selection surprises supervisor

Los Angeles County Supervisor James Hayes said Friday he was surprised at President Nixon's choice of Rep President Gerald Ford to succeed Spiro Agnew, having rated Ford only an 80-1 choice

"But on reflection I can see where the President obviously considered quick confirmation by Congress as a key factor in getting attention away from the Agnew mess." Hayes added.

Hayes said he was cereity and humility, and said he believed Ford would become an effective vice president.

Supervisor Pete Schabarum said the President's choice appeared to have heen "well thought out."

"His choice seems to have been a popular one from the reaction that followed the announcement and I think that is an important ingredient in winning congressional confirmation," Schabarum said.

Ford is the future of the Republican Party," Nixon once said. Yet Ford himself once was categorized by a colleague as a politician "who would rather be speaker of the House than President."

After having succeeded Rep. Charles Halleck as minorily leader in 1965 Ford clashed repeatedly with President Johnson over his Great Society programs. This led to presidential wrath — and barbs. Among them: "Jerry's the only man I ever knew who can't chew gum and walk at the same time.

He then went on to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and then to Yale where he received a law degree in 1941. He served four years in the Navy as an aviation operations officer, including two years aboard the aircraft carrier Monterey in the South Pacific. He was a lieutenant commander when he was discharged. After practicing law in Grand Rapids, Ford was urged by his stepiather, who was Republican chairman there to run for Congress. With the backing of the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Ford unseated Republican representative Bartel Jonkman, attacking his isolationist policies. Ford is an internationalist. He spent 10 days in China last year. But he is also an advocate — as is the President — of strong armed forces to back up a tough foreign policy. On returning from Peking he noted that "among high Chinese officials there was a great deal of interest shown in, and many questions asked about, the sufficiency of our military

He did not report $11,500 in contributions for his 1970 campaign, including donations from stock and bond dealers, bankers, oil interests, doctors and the boilermakers and blacksmiths union. The checks were sent to Republican head-quarters here. About the same amount was returned to the Ford campaign to pay election expenses. The exchange had the effect of hiding the names of special interest groups that had contributed. Ford insisted that his actions had been "within the

California tour group stranded in Cairo by war

Associated Press

A tour group of 31 Californians, including the past president of the Califormia Bar, is stranded in Cairo under "protective guard" of the Egyptian Army, their travel agent said Friday.

The tourists, all mem-bers of the World Affairs Council, have been confined to the Cairo Hilton Hotel for eight days since war erupted. Lynn Bar-rett of National Travel Service said the group members were not being allowed to leave the hotel

"for their own safety."
She said the U.S. State

A spokesman for the World Affairs Council con-firmed that former Bar President Leonard Ja-nofsky and his wife are among the tourists. The spokesman, Donald Zimring, said he had spoken to Janufsky and others by telephone and they are "safe and comfortable."

Zimring said his latest communication indicates the group might be able to leave Cairo this weekend, but the destination was not certain. Initial efforts were aimed at transporting the Americans to Libya, but the latest plans include a possible trip to either Cyprus or Athens.

Conviction for rape suspect

MARIPOSA (GPI) — John P. But.yard, 27, a truck driver suspected of being San Francisco's "Nob Hill rapist," was convicted Friday on two counts of second-degree murder in the shooting of two women during an Easter week crime spree.

Bunyard, unshaven and wearing leg irons, displayed no emotion when the seven-woman, live-man panel returned its verdict in Superior Court after eight days of testimony and 20 hours of deliberation. The jurors also found Bunyard guilty of two counts of assult on a peace officer, two counts of kidnaping while armed with a deadly weapon and one count of armed robbery.

The defense had emphasized the mental capacity of Bunyard and sought the partial defense of diminished capacity, a mitigating factor which may have been reflected by the jury's choice of seconddegree murder rather than first-degree.

Bunyard was arrested following a two-day chase across the state in which authorities said several persons were kidnaped and two women were killed here in their motel rooms.

Threat to prison official under study

SAN FRANCISCO ® The State Department of Corrections says it is "laking seriously" a threat to capture the state prison director unless six inmates accused of murder are freed from San Quentin Prison.

In a letter sent Friday to the Berkeley Barb, an underground newspaper, a group calling itself the "August Seventh Guerril-la Movement" said:

The Director of Prisons will soon be captured and placed for an indefinite period of time in the people's prison indefinite to mean until joined by his colleagues in the murder of Soledad Brother George Jackson. where the ultimate of the revolutionary justice will be administered to them."

California has no director of prisons as such, but it was assumed the letter referred to director of Corrections Raymond Procunier.

Phillip Guthrie, public information officer for State Department of Corrections, responded in Sacramento:

"THREATS against top prison officials in this state, expecially during the last five years, are really nothing new.

"We do take those kinds of things seriously. After all, we even had our office here in Sacramento bombed in Late August 1971. But you can't let those kinds of things run your life, if you're going to be in this business

SAN MATEO (UPI) --- A San Mateo County Health Department sanitarian and a woman were ar raigned Friday on grand theft charges for allegedly bilking an elderly San Mateo man who was committed to a nursing home. Alan W. Dressbach, 29, was ordered held on §25,-000 bail while Christiane Tusouo, 29, was ordered held in lieu of $10,000. A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 25 in municipal court.

Del Court is scheduled for trial before Stratton Nov. 2 on a false insur-ance claim charge. He is free on $2,500 bond. Gerbasi's conviction stems from $2,358 insurance claim that was filed after he reported that he was robbed of club re-ceipts he was taking to a Lakewood bank last April 2. The insurance claim was never paid.

The bribery charge stemmed from an alleged

L.B. suspect pleads innocent to sex charge

A 38-year-old Long Beach man Friday plead-ed innocent to charges of kidnaping, molesting and attempting to rape a 12year-old Stanford Junior Righ School coed.

The defendant, Earl S. Rode, of 2280 San Vicente Ave., appeared before Long Beach Superior Court Judge Charles C. Stratton, who set trial for Nov. 26 and a pretrial hearing for Nov. 2. The judge continued Rode in county jail under $25,000

The girl was abducted from the street near her home last Sept. i4 by a man in a car who asked to talk with her. Police said she was with the defend ant 18 hours later when officers located Rode's car in a parking lot at the Edgewater Hyali Rouse, 6100 E. Pacific Coast attempt to enlist police motorcycle officer Fred Sims in a fake robbery of the club. Sims was a prosecution witness in the trial.

Sims participated with police intelligence officers in an investigation after he reported that he had received overtures to join a plot at the club, where he semetimes took his meals. The prosecution alleged that in the investigation Sims received a number of offers of bribes and at one time was uaid $100 in a parking lot near the club.

Fuehrer's car used to raise funds

Robert Pass, who is Jewish, stands beside Mercedes-Benz that once belonged to Adolf Hitler. Pass and his partner Walter Klein, bought the 1940 model automobile for $176,000 at an auction earlier this month. The car cost $2.6 million to build and weighs 11,000 pounds, partly because of armor plating and 2-inch-thick bulletproof glass. The partners plan to use the car to raise money, primarily for Jewish charities. Pass, who trades in antique autos in St. Louis said the car is not for sale-

With 'a little work' on it Opel gets 376 miles to gal.

ROSEWOOD HEIGHTS, III. (UPI) - Ben Visser has a 1959 Opel station wagon and he's done a little work on it. The last time he took it for a spin he got 376 miles to the gallon.

"Of course, when you get better gasoline mileage, you have to sacrifice something," Visser conceded.

Visser's car has sacrificed such luxury items as the windshield ("We're trying to cut wind resistance") and it operates with a one-speed transmission ("We don't have a reverse, and we go forward very slowly.") Visser is a research engineer at the Shell Oil Co. refinery in Wood River, Ill. He and a few friends have worked for about four years on the wagon, and claim this month's achievement of 376.59 miles a gallon is a world record.

"A few of us were sitting around a couple of years ago and wondering about how much gasoline mileage we could get if we went all out to develop a car simply for the sake of getting better mileage." Visser said. "It started with a few fellows at work but we've done all this on our own with our own money.

Visser's car has the original body shell and engine, but the roof has been chopped off at about the point where the back of the front seat used to be. The engine has been moved from under the hood to the back and has been placed sideways to eliminate one gear.

All of the modifications are intended to reduce friction. The transmission is regulated by only two sprockets, and all of the other gears and bearings have been eliminated. The rear tires have been moved so that they are side by side. A special axle engages only one of the back wheels, and the other rolls freely. The car, which weighs 2,400 pounds, can be pushed by one shifted to Aberdeen, Miss., out of fairness to the defendants.

In their petition, the de-place to provide a fair and impartial jury.

By contrast, the defense said, the pretrial publici-ty, especially the Water-

The subcommittee is investigating government expenditures on Nixon properties. Under queslioning from Chairman Jack Brooks, D-Tex., Galuardi said Kalmbach ordered a survey of the entire estate in 1969 as well as a structural sur-

The survey firm, South Coast Engineering, billed Kalmbach for the work. according to Brooks, who Ĝaluardi said he was unaware of the Kalmbach surveys at the time and ordered his own survey at the request of the Secret Service to construct a wall around the estate.

"It shows a lax way of picking up the tabs for work ordered by other people," Brooks said, noting that Galuardi could have asked Kalmbach for a copy of the survey.

Galuardi said Lynch had requested the installation of a new $11,800 heating system in the Nixon home to replace the gas system which he said was "faulty" and possibly $900,000 for '72 campaign Humphrey receipts 'way late'

Sen. Hubert Humphrey's campaign committee for the 1972 Democratic nomination for president failed to disclose nearly $900,000 in receipts and expenditures until long after the campaign had ended, ge General Accounting office said Friday.
The agency said the committee filed amend-inents on June 22, July 31 and Aug. 8, 1973, listing receipts and expenditures of $456,732 and $420,236, which had not been reported previously.

The GAO said attorneys for the Committee for the Nomination of Hubert Humphrey told the agency-the omissions resulted from defects in the committee's bookkeeping system which were not disthe campaign ended.
"We believe the reasons cited by the committee to account for a large por-tion of the committee's re-porting deficiencies," the GAOsaid in an ukdit re-port. "Clearly, however, the committee's failure . .

was a seriousl frustration of the prompt disclo-sure objectives of the federal election campaign

The GAO report, issued by the agency's Office of Federal Elections, said the committee's failure to document $200,000 to $300,000 in expenditures was "equally serious."

The director of the office, Phillip S. vughes, CKNOWLEDGED THE Humphrey committee had gone to considerable expense and trouble in recent months to rectify shortcomings in its records and reporting.

The office also identified six apparent instances of contributions by corporations, prohibited by law, and $1 million in contributions from individuals which exceeded $3.000 per person and might be subject to feder-

Economist predicts recession in 1974 sightedness" in embrac-HOT SPRINGS, Va.

(UPI) - A leading conservative economist pre-dicted an outright recession next year in a talk to high-level businessman Friday, while a former administration expert said the economy was looking up. Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, a leader in the con-servative "monitorist" servative school, predicted inflation would probably be worse instead of better next year and lold reporters, "I think there's a good chance" of a recession in FRIEDMAN told the Business Council, an unofficial advisory group of about 150 executives of the largest corporations, that business showed "ignorance and shorting wage-price controls when they were intro-duced two years ago. Paul McCracken, for-mer chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, disagreed, saying 'The possibility of a recession, if anything, has been declining." As evi-dence that the economy might escape a severe crunch next year, McCracken, now a University of Michigan professor, cited heavy spending plans by business for plant and equipment, and a more expansive monetary policy by the federal reserve board.

The result, McCracken said, could be a reduced growth rate rather than an actual decline in output that is considered the hallmark of a recession.

Aspirin seen as multiple ulcer cause

By BEN ZINSER Medical-Science Editor

Physicians are seeing more and more cases of multiple ulcers and bleeding of the stomach lining because of aspirin use and drinking of alcoholic beverages, a Long Beach doctor says.

The doctor, Angelo E. Dagradi, is the incoming president of the prestigious American College of Gastroenterology. He will Gastroenterology. He will be installed this month daring the organization's annual convention in Los

Dr. Dagradi, chief of gastroenterology at Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital, said in an interview that medical doctors are becoming more aware of the haz-ards involved in taking

USE OF aspirin or of alcoholic beverages, alone or in combination, can cause a disorder known as hemorrhagic erosive gas-tritis — bleeding of the stomach lining. The ail-ment can be serious enough to require blood transfusion and, occasion-ally, a surgical operation to stop the bleeding.

Also, Dagradi said, it appears that aspirin use, of use of certain other drugs, can lead to devel-opment of multiple benign

In one study of 199 pa-tients with stomach ulcers, 36 were found to have multiple ulcers. The patients were examined by gastroscopy early in the course of their dislease. In the past, when reliance was placed on X-rays for the detection of stomach ulcers, doctors regarded most such patients. tients has having a soli-

"WE KNOW that multi-ple ulcers are not as infrequent as previously thought," Dagradi said.

A study of the 36 patients with multiple ulcers revealed that 92 per cent had been taking ulcer-causing drugs, mainly aspirin. Only 10 per cent of the 92 had taken drugs other than aspirin. Other ulcer-causing drugs include compounds such as phenylbutazone, oxyphen-butazone and reserpine.

And even among the 83 patients with solitary stomach ulcers, 38 per cent had been taking medications that can cause ulcers.

Several factors, alone or in combination, may be involved in the phenome-non, Dagradi said. He added that not all persons who take these drugs develop ulcers.

FOR ONE, the type or condition of stomach lining may contribute to ulcer formation.

Second, the emptying ability of the stomach a role

Third, the particulate matter and degree of solu-bility of the medication may be a cause. When this is the only factor, liquid aspirin might be a way to reduced incidence of ulcers, Dagradi said.

Instead of aspirin, some patients can use a drug called a cetaminophen, Dagradi said. (The compound is known by a variety of trade names includ-ing Tylenol, Tempra, Nebs, Valadol and others.)

Acetaminophen, unlike aspirin, doesn't irritate the stomach lining. But it can curb pain and reduce fever. Unfortunately, unlike aspirin, it has no antiinflammatory property, so it can't be substituted for aspirin in the treatment of rheumatoid ar-

A PROBLEM faced by physicians is that many patients take aspirin containing products without realizing aspirin is present.

"Alka-Seltzer is an example," Dagradi said.
Other examples, according to the American Pharmaceutical association, are Ascriptin, Anacin, A. S. A. Enseals, A. S. A. Compound, Bufferin, Cope, Counterpain, Defen-sin, Exedrin, Ecotrin, Empirin Compound,

"A lot of people do not even consider aspirin a drug," Dagradi continued. "A doctor, taking a medical history, will ask a pa-tient, 'Are you taking any drugs?' The patient may drugs?' The patient may be taking aspirin and reply 'no.' As I said, many do not consider aspirin a drug, and aspirin may be the cause of their troubles."

ONE OF the biggest recent advances in the medical specialty of gastroenterology is the in-creasing use of fiberoptic instruments — scopes with which to view the inside of the stomach, colon and other areas of the ali-mentary tract, Dagradi

It had produced a great improvement in the accuracy of diagnosis, he noted.

Gastroenterologists are excited about a new research development - pill to dissolve gallstones.

The new compound, chenodeoxycholic acid, if chenodeoxycholic acid, if it should prove successful, may make unnecessary major abdominal surgery for the removal of the gallbladder.

A NUMBER of medical centers in the nation soon will begin a new research trial to evaluate the drug, for scientists must learn if there are any long-term adverse effects associated with use of the compound.

Dagradi also had these comments: He feels that a close-doctor patient relationship is necessary for successful therapy even in the practice of modern-day medicine.

"The confidence of a patient in his physician, and emotional support from the doctor and from others are extremely important," he said. There should be more emphasis on preventive medicine - an all of medicine, not just gas-troenterology. Early detection of disease often makes for a better prognosis.

HE DOESN'T have much use for fads in medicine, whether it be diet or the phenomenon of jogging. "Almost every medical fad that has come into vogue eventually has disappeared," he said.

The quality of young people entering medicine

"They learn quickly," a said. "The public is continuing to obtain quality physicians. The new doctors are well motivated and quite dedicated."

There is a high level of medicine practiced in government hospitals despile what some critics say, Dagradi concluded.

Year-round fast time endorsed

WASHINGTON (RNS) -The long ignored idea of year-bound daylight savings time was promoted Friday as an energy conservation measure by Rep. William Whitehurst, R.-Va.

Whitehurst, who never before joined in support of the measure which has been proposed every year about this time, endorsed the idea in a letter to White House energy adviser John Love.

No doubt, some of the covered wagons that labored across the country had Epiphyllum as one of the few container plants pioneer women brought with them to the West Even though Epiphyllum is an epiphyte and usually grows in moss and debris in crotches of tree branches from Mexico to Brazil, it has adapted itself to containers. There plants usually grow outdoors in containers protected from hot sun

Apartment house dwellers as well as mobile home owners who love container gardening even though in somewhat limited space, grow these lovely, blooming, succulent-type plants. Epiphyllums are fertilized several times after they have finished blooming. In many cases the remaining mulch of manure that hasn't sifted over the prewatered container soil. A month or two later the plants are fed with a food very low in nitrogen con tent but having much more phosphorus and potash. They sometimes are fed a fertilizer with only phosphorus and potash. The plants are watered well when thirsty but not kept constantly moist. Saucer or drainless containers in which the pot rests is emptied of water. The container bottoms are not to stand constantly in drained water.

Frequently we read about plants or lawns that are burned by fertilizer. This means too much fertilizer has been applied to the soil, yet in these descriptions the burn symptoms are never explained nor are we told what to do about the prob-

Fertilizer burn results kinds of fast acting chemical nitrogen fertilizers too fast. The leaves soon start to turn dark brown.

Here's an experience I had with an indoor potted plant: I carelessly poured what I thought was the right amount of liquid fertilizer into a half buck-et of water, without reading the instructions on the bottle label. The plant was immersed in it two inches above top edge of the pot. It was taken out of the bucket when the roots had suffi-cient water. The pot drained then placed in the saucer indoors on the table near the window.

A couple of days later the leaves turned dark brown half way down from the top and soon started dropping off. I took the plant and dunked it into the bucket of water to leach out any vestige of fertilizer left in the root ball area. Some of the leaves have been shed-ding daily. Right now

2 studied after tale of UFO

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UPI) — Two shipyard workers who claimed they were hauled aboard a UFO and examined by silvery-skinned creatures with big eyes and pointed ears were checked at a military hospital Friday and found to be clear of Air Force doctors at nearby Keesler Air Force Base examined the men, Charles Hickson, 42, and Calvin Parker, 19, as a precautionary measure fter they came forth with their weird tale.

OFFICIALS said the men, both employed at Walker Shippards, where Rickson is a foreman, would make no further public statements concerning their story until they talked further with federal authorities.

Jackson County Chief
Deputy Barney Mathis said the men told him they were fishing from an pier on the west bank of Pascagoula River about 7 p.m. Thursday when they noticed a strange craft about two miles away emitting : bluish haze.

They said it moved closer and then appeared to hover about three or four feet above the water then "three whateverthey were came but, either floating or walking, and carried us into the ship," officers quoted Hickson as saying.
"The things had big eyes. They kept us about 20 minutes, photographed us and then took us back to the pier.

The sheriff said the spacecraft" was described as fish-shaped, about 10 feet square with an eight-foot ceiling. The occupants were said to have pale silvery-gray skin, no hair, long pointed ears and noses with an opening for a mouth and hands 'like crab claws."

choking on food, cailed a "cafe coronary" because it usually occurs in a restaurant and resembles a heart attack, is the sixth leading cause of accidental death in the country, according to a report published in a magazine for doctors.

'It is remarkable that the number of deaths due to food asphyxiation exceeds those due to such familiar mechanisms as aircraft accidents, firearms and lightning," said the report by Dr. R.K. Haugen, a Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., pathologist.

NATIONAL safety council statistics show 2,417 deaths in 1968 and 2,641 in 1969 from "inhalation of food," which is more than the 2,300-plus accidental firearms deaths each year (not including homicide and suicides), the nearly 2,000 annual deaths from aircraft accidents and about 130 annual lightning

The "cafe coronary" victim usually is a middleaged or elderly person with dentures who has been drinking heavily. Haugen wrote in the newest issue of Medical Opinion. He has attempted to swallow solid solid food, usually steak, and is unable to talk cough or breathe.

Apparently the alcohol inhibits normal coughing that might dislodge the food and save the victim.

A review of 55 autopsies of "cafe coronary" victims revealed that in half the cases the ingested food was as large on the average as a pack of cigarettes, wrote Haugen, former chief medical examiner of Browerd County, Fla.

BYSTANDERS or restaurant workers could save about 35 per cent of the victims by recognizing the problem and either removing the food with their fingers or using an instrument called a choke saver that was developed for such emergencies. "All restaurants should be equipped with such an instrument, designed for such a use by untrained person-

Kesearch MS virus

BOSTON (UPD - Three doctors from Massachusetts General Hospital of the strongest clues yet indicating that multiple sclerosis (MS) may be caused by a virus.

Reporting in the current New England Journal of Medicine, the doctors said they found that 14 confirmed MS victims in Mansfield Mass., had lived there in 1932 when a pond and city waterways were found to be highly contaminated with bacteria. All were about 14 years old at the time.

The disease is a neuromuscular disorder in which the fatty tissue around the nerves breaks down and resulting scars slow or block electrical impusies between the brain and muscles. The result can be total or partial disability.

The doctors who reported on the Mansfield cases are David C. Poskanzer. Richard Eastman and

Jean Sheridan. Their research began after one of Poskanzer's patients from Mansfield mentioned that there seemed to be a high incidence of the disease 'True facts hidden,' says Alquist

"He's saying hello!"

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Forecast for Your birthday today: If you have not cleared your path toward a better life, current conditions tend to bring such a clearance. Whatever seems harsh may be both needed and, in the long run, enjoyable. A shift to some other vocation is quite possible for many of today's natives this year. Most of them choose moderate courses, are adaptable to a wide range of activities, and like to follow or devise definite rules for the conduct to life and business.

Aries Olarch 21-April 191: Be calm as you share the community's weekend customs. There are strangers about You should know more of their plans and attitudes before getting too near to involvement. Taurus (April 20-May 20): Entertainment, excursions, whatever you can find convenient to organize promise success. Rely on past experience for guidance. Check up on those who are out of public view.

Gennii (May 21-June 20): With so many ways to spend your time, it may be difficult to select if you wait for others to get started. Take the initiative and stirk to your favorite hobbies.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Beneath this Sunday's surface run currents of emotional stress and impulses of contradictory direction. Forgive yourself and those you cherish for being Luman and sensitive.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Tact and graceful acceptance of people as they are is only part of the success story this Sunday. Any travel should begin early. Visits promise interesting conclusions.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Expect some casual attitudes from those who are used to hearing your story. Remember there's more of their response that is not on the surface, and forbear.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Long-standing tensions come to an almost calm inner release this Sunday. It is as if you finally reliquish an unreal idea or come to the end of a waiting period.

Scorpin (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Now you find some natural limits on what you can do or reach. The question is whether you can recognize subthe hints or have to have them spelled out crudely, later.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21):

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21):
With somebody for whom you really care, this should be a pleasant Sunday; but nothing casual seems likely to offer much. See the antics of others as an education opportunity.

as an education opportunity.

Campricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 191: Deep spiritual resources are accessible, can be stirred today into dedication, reflected in significant longterin, action. Let no superficial circumstances hinder this awakening.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18):
Just because you seem to have everything going your way does not mean that everyone will continue to agree. You must, share all the facts and the benefits as you go.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Stive to be an uninvolved spectalor today. It is likely that some langle in your budgets or understanding of financial re-sources exist — sit down and puzzle this out now.

AFTER EXCHANGING vows, eight young couples exchange kisses at a mass marriage arranged for them Friday in a Los Angeles park. They said a conventional marriage would have cost too much. -

International

It wasn't exactly a normal wedding ceremony, when eight couples recited their yows in Los Angeles near the La Brea tar pits Friday, but it was a way of avoiding the high cost of modern matrimony.

Sponsored by radio sta-tion KMET-FM as part of a campaign to cut down wedding costs, the casually dressed group participated in an early morning ceremony presided over by a minister of the Universal Life Church and witnessed by a turtle in a box which bore the sign:

about a year and 7:30 in the morning is great. Now we'll just go to work."

The minister, Dr. Jag Gaynor, admonished each husband to accept his spouse as "an independent soul with beliefs and feelings of her own, even though you may not agree with them."

The couples then exchanged tokens of affection, including a rose, a string of beads, and a wedding ring which was taped to the back of the "best man."

"It was terrific," said Robert and Susan Barker. "It was a nice day, and we couldn't afford a church wedding."

"Best Man."

factured by a group of blind orphans, he told a luncheon meeting of the Comstock Club, an organization of Sacramento business and professional leaders.

"A finy little boy about 4 years of age, with a heavy little tin can in his hand, was learning that he could walk 50 paces this way, 25 paces another way to a water spigot, fill his little bucket with water, come back and stop four or five times to rest his hand," he said.

Then, the child, with his feet, would "try to find the adobe patch in the middle of this dry, dusty yard that he would pour water over --- and do that all day long, unloved, un-cared for, unwanted."

Asked from the audience what a "Sacramento office worker could do,' Manning replied:

In an interview after his talk, Manning said the image of the small blind boy in the African orphan-age had stuck in his mind after the tour was over.

"It kind of got to me,"

he said. "We cannot be at peace, or at rest here until we have addressed ourselves to these problems," Man-ning said.

Episcopal 'scoreboard'; Catholics and Mo. Synod

By LES RODNEY

Toting up time on the decisions of the Episcopal Church convention, which was expected to turn strongly to the conservative side after years of controversy over so-called liberal programs.

These actions could be listed on the conservative side of the ledger:
1. Election of Bishop

John M. Allin of Mississippi as new presiding bishop. 2. Defeat of ordination for women.

3. Reduction by 30 per cent of the budget amount for "self empowerment" projects of blacks, and an ending of "no strings at-tached" grants.

4. Defeat of a resolution to back amnesty for draft resisters to the Vietnam war.

(Before going to the other side of the score-board, it is only fair to quote this sentence from Bishop Allin's first speech as church leader: "Let it be understood, and I say it in my most Southern accent, that I consider the mission of the Church to include the dignity of people, and the empowerment of those who are deprived.")

These actions could be

These actions could be listed on the liberal side of the ledger:

1. Ending of the age-old ban against remarriage of diverced persons, includ-ing recognition for the first time of the validity of a civil diverce.

2. Decision to continue for another three years trial use of new ritual, including modern revisions of the church's historic Book of Common Prayer.

3. Urging that "mere possession or personal use of marijuana be considered no more than a misde-meanor," and asking for commutation or reduction of sentences for such offenses under felony statutes.

The flavor of the arguments on the issue of divorced persons can be sampled in these remarks:

The changes are designed to get rid of the church's excessive legal-"If I had known that," he said, "I would have told them it wouldn't be

Bishop Frederick Putnam of Oklohoma City added that the old rules pushed divorced people away from the church with no chance of ministering to them.

On the other side, Bishop Addison Hosea of Lexington, Ky. said the new regulations lack any "en-forceable standards" by which the church can say no to couples seeking to marry. "It runs the danger of allowing pastoral to mean permissive." he

ROMAN CATHOLIC fundamentalists who freely level against responsible scholars charges of heresy and perversion of faith threaten to create a situation similar to that in the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, according to the prestigious Catholic Biblical Association. In a strongly worded

TRE POPE VI National Unit Recognition has been awarded to Troop 120, St. Joseph, first troop in Long Beach to get this honor for all-round scouting under Catholic auspices. Leaders who rate congratulations, along with the boys, are Bert Sellers and Sebastian Attardo.

ONE EARLY Christian reaction to the new war in the Middle East comes from Rev. Charles Angell, director of the Christian Unity Center of the Graymoor Fathers and a lead ing Catholic ecumenist. Father Angell says "At this particular moment in history, when the Jews in Israel are faced with agression...I think it is important for Christian friends not to scuttle into the woodwork. My concern is for all the people in the Middle East, but the cause of Arab Chris-tians and Muslims is not served by beating war drums nor in fostering the illusion that somehow Is-rael will disappear from the earth. Arabs and Israelis must recognize their respective right to existence in peace and se-curity, and there will be no solution to the present conflict until the Arabs and Jews talk together and work out their coexistence."

for a long time students of prophecy have been saying.
"Keep your eyes upon the Israel-Arab situation." There is conflict in the passession of the land and the Bible. Israel seems to be the offender. And yet the Bible draws the boundary lines for Israel, and Arabs raw accept part of that Island. The big question is this continued to the passes of God's Word?
Could it be so in your own claims at God's Word?

Could it be so in your own personal life? Seemingly thousands think so, for multitudes are seeking peace of mind and heart without a personal faith in Christ and a personal solvation through his statement of both.

without a personal faith in Christ and a personal solvation through His atoning death. According to the Bible, this is impossible. But is the Bible correct? Is there peace for the individual? For the nations? Do we have a right to formulate our own opinions and theologies? The Bible declares that God made man in the image of God. Modern thought attempts to make God in the image of man. Can man do this? What will be the end result of man's ignoring God's Word and God's Will in these matters?

Eternity is too larg to risk on the fallible plans of man. Surely cothing short of God's Word, God's San as personal Sarviour, and God's plan for this life can give us personal Sarviour, and God's plan for this life can give us personal surviour, and Have an Ha partment store glove de-partment, a friend witnessed a fascinating demonstration of human nature, controlled and uncontrolled.

A well-dressed woman A well-dressed woman was returning some gloves with the irritable high pitched complaint that she had been given the wrong ones. It was easy to see that she was the seed that very upset. In a most vioient manner, out of all proportion to the error. she vented her annoyance by pouring out upon an unfortunate salesgirl a (irade of abuse.

The clerk, however, retained her composure. She listened patiently and politely, remaining very courteous, very quiet and very pleasant. Presently the angry woman ran down. She glanced around and saw other customers and clerks covertly watching her. She flushed and said with some confu-"I suppose I have made an exhibition of myself. We all have tempers, don't we? But of course you understand. Really, I'm very sorry.

THE TROUBLE is that people cannot be expected to understand. You can never write off your own bad temper so easily. But this particular salesgirl was able to reply in an unruffled kindly tone and with sincerity too: "Yes, I do understand. You must be tired. And I was so stupid. I did give you the wrong gloves. I'm so sorry. Here are the right ones, and aren't they nice.

Um sure you'll like

The mollified and embarrassed woman said. "Oh, yes, these are lovely gloves." She took them and went away as quickly as possible, but not without saying to the clerk: out saying to the creaming You are a very nice

My friend had watched all this and, after the woman left, she went over and said to the clerk, "It is amazing how you calmed that woman and restored her balance. May I ask how did you do it?"

"Well," the clerk said, "I saw the state she was in, so I began to bless her."
"You did what?" exclaimed the other.

"Yes." "Yes." the clerk reinterated, "I blessed her mentally all the time she was ranting, I begar to visualize her as a child of God. I merely sent out good will thoughts toward her. Quietly in my own mind I saw her, not as she was acting, but as she really is in her soul.

That the young woman revealed consumate skill in handling criticism and hostility was obvious. She also showed remarkable insight in realizing the highly tense condition of the customer. She used the powerful counterforce of good will most effertively. What happened was that the good will thoughts moving out en-countered the hostility countered the hostility coming in. The two forces met and, as good will is always more powerful than ill will, it won the

The salesgirl acted as though she had actually learned to use twenty three of the hardest. toughest, but most effective words ever spoken for meeting criticism: Love your enemies. bless them that curse you. do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you." The man who first spoke these words has been called by those not in the know an impracti-cal visionary. Yet actually more realistic or practical advice has never been given. Those 23 words express a technique that really works. But it is a demanding formula and it takes real people to apply it. THE SALES clerk had more going for her than

"When I get sure, he calls it anger. But when he gets sore, it's holy wrath?"

to absorb shock. Hence the criticism never reached the girl's control center. She had what the Quakers call "peace at the center" -- peace deep inside oneself.

With inner peace of this kind you can always han-dle criticism because it even that formula. She had within her mind a quality of peace designed tional control area.

Congressmen applaud Ford

WASHINGTON (A) ---Republicans and Demo-crats alike applauded President Nixon's choice of Rep. Gerald R. Ford for the vice presidency Friday night and predicted he would easily win confirmation from the House and Senate.

In the House, the reaction was similar.

"Ford is a respected House leader and an hon-est man," said Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis. "I shall yote for him and I don't think his confirma-tion will present any difficulties.

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the House Agriculture Com-mittee, said he told Ford earlier Friday "that in case he was the man nominated. I would vote for him.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-III., chairman of the House Republican Conference, predicted Ford would be easily approved, saying he is "almost universally admired by the members of both parties."

The first negative reaction was from outspoken Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y. She said Congress should delay action until a decision is reached on wheth-er President Nixon should impeached in the Watergate case.

"I don't think there is any need to confirm a vice president now, especially by a president who has committed more crimes than a vice presi-dent like Agnew," she Republican Senate Leader Hugh Scott said, "I think it's great. He'll have no trouble being confirmed.'

House Speaker Carl Albert, who suggested his GOP counterpart to the President, said "i am President, said "i am very pleased with thenomination of Gerry Ford. As I told the President Wednesday, he was my choice and the easiest to be confirmed.' Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said without hesitation that Ford will be confirmed overwhelmingly. "It will sail through," he said. WHILE agreeing that-Ford should be confirmed easily, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said Congress still has a responsibility to exercise "all deliberate speed" in dealing with the nomination.

As one of the authors of the 25th Amendment, which provides for replacing a vice president, Bayh said Congress is setting a precedent and must be careful in establishing the machinery for carrying it out.

"This won't be a rubber stamp effort," Bayh said.

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., a GOP member of the Judiciary Committee, said he "absolutely will vote for Gerry Ford. I'm sure he will be popular and overwhelming choice!" Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., who was vice president under the late President Lyndon B. Johnson for four years, said: "I have every reason to believe that he will be readily approved by both houses and serve the nation well.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie. D-Maine, said "his confirmation should pose little if any difficulty. I think he's a good man."

FORD NIXON'S CHOICE

the same process they would have reserved for a choice less palatable to the members.

"We are establishing precedent under the 25th Amendment," said Humphrey, and Congress has the obligation to conduct a full hearing and let the public be heard on this nomination."

Two California Democratic liberals pointedly called for intense scrutiny of Ford's qualifications and views. Rep. Don Ed-wards, of San Jose, said Congress must make a "thorough investigation" of Ford, as did Rep. Jerry Waldie, a Democratic candidate for governor in California.

Following up on Nixon's appeal for harmony, the 60-year-old Ford pledged to work with the President and with Congress to make America a united America

President Nixon, who seemed to be enjoying the suspense he had built up before naming Ford, said the nation's leadership meet challenges it now faces at home and abroad 'only if there is bipartisan support in Congress and the support of peditiously as possible on millions of Americans this nomination," and millions of Americans across the land."

He said he had three standards in mind as he standards in finite as a pondered his decision white alone Thursday night in the presidential mountain retreat at Camp Dayid, Md.

They were: Qualifications to become president; sharing Nixon's views on critical foreign policy and national de-fense issues: and ability to work with both parties in getting programs through Congress.

Nixon said Ford met all three criteria.

Nixon and Ford became close friends in 1949. shortly after Ford was elected to his first term in the House of Representatives from the Grand Rapids, Mich., district. They were the founders of the Chowder and Marching Society, a small group of young Turk freshmen and sophomore Republicans who generally followed Nixon's leadership.

Among other members the group was Melvin Laird, a Wisconsin con-gressman who served as Nixon's first-term secretary of defense.

The President asked Congress to act "as ex-decision-making process, while Malcolm Wilkey said the decision threat-ened the separation of powers.

But the ruling itself minced no words in denying Nixon's contentions.
"These are invitations to refashion the Constitu-tion, and we reject them." it said.

Though the President is elected by nationwide ballot and is often said to represent all the people, he does not embody the nation's sovereignty. He is not above the law's commands: with all its defects, delays and inconveniences men have discovered no technique for long preserving free government except that the executive be under law

... sovereignty remains at all times with the people, and they do not for-feit through elections the right to have the law construe against and apply to every citizen.

The court's order said that 'without compromising the confidentiality of the information" the dis-trict court should follow this kind of a procedure:

1 -Insofar as the President makes a claim that certain material may not be disclosed because the matter relates to national defense or foreign relations, he may decline to transmit that portion of the material and ask the district court to reconsider whether in camera inspection of the material is necessary. The special prosecutor is entitled to inspect the claim and showing and may be heard thereon in chambers. If the judge sustains the privilege the text of the government's statement will be preserved in the court's record under

"2.-The President will present to the district court all other items covered by the district court with the specification of which segments he believes may be disclosed and which not. This can be accomplished by itemizing and indexing the material and correlating indexed items with partieular claims of privilege, On request of either coun-sel, the district court shall hold a hearing in chambers on the claims. Thereafter the court shall inspect the disputed items."

"The petition and appeal of the United States is dismissed." the appeals' court said. "The President's petition is demed, except insolar as we direct the district court to modify its order and to conduct further proceedings in a manner not inconsistent with this opinion.

THE MET MYSTIQUE

By GORDON VERRELL

Just forget all the formalities and hand the World Series swag to Yogi Berra. But somebody should back him up.

He's liable to drop it.
There's really litthe doubt that the Mets will win the Series, defeating the Oakland A's in a stunning six games. Alter all, the Mets managed to win three more games than they lost this season — 82.79 — and were in last place in the National League East as recent as the All-Star game.

But here they are — without so much as one .300 hitter, only one gay with more than 16 home runs, no one with as many as 80 runs batted in, 10th among 12 teams in the National League in batting, 11th in scoring and With such credentials are World

Series champions made! The clincher was when the oddsmakers poked one another in the ribs, snickered confidently and made Oakland a solid 7-5 choice to win it all. If that's not convincing, consider

A'S HAVE A MOTIVE

The Oakland Athletiesmay not have history on their side when they attempt to make il back-to-back world championships in the World Series against that funny little team

But they may not need it. They have Charlie O. - not the mule, the owner.

Obviously flushed with success as the man behind the defending cham-pions, Charlie O. made a rather un-Finley like statement the other day.

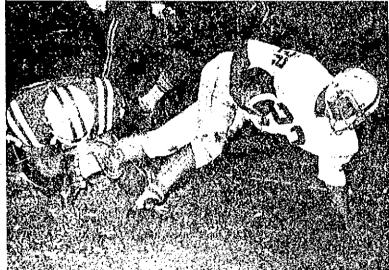

Seeking to supply the incentive that the Cincinnati Reds could not muster, Finley told his athletes, "If you win this World Series I'll double the size of the diamond in you Series ring.

"I'm all for that." Oatfish Hunter promptly retorted. That would be worth showing off."
It is not known how commissioner

Bowie Kuhn will react to Finley's latest in a long list of crafty induce-ments but if the A's do win - and it says here they will in six games -Finley is just liable to give Kuhn a ring, too. Kuhn is liable to give Finley something else. A hefty fine, for in-

There's no telling how good the 1973 Lancers are. Although beaten once in four games, the three wins have been achieved by diversified means.

Friday night Lakewood made most of its key yardage passing, building up a 35-0 advantage after three quarters that enabled three different quarterbacks to see action and throw for 259 yards through the air.

OAKLAND -- An innocent little remark by Oakland's Reggie Jackson may become the week's battle cry as the New York Mets try for another of their World Series

Combined News Services

"Who the beck are the Mets?" Jackson wondered out loud-and within earshot of a newsman-the other day.

The men who establish the odds are wondering the same thing. The A's are 7.5 favorites to successfully defend the World favorites.

Jon Matlack, who's never even seen a World Series game, is the start-ing pitcher for the amazing Mets, opposing Oak-land's Ken Holtzman.

The game begins at 1:30 p.m. (Channel 4).

"I'm not nervous yet." said Matlack, who pitched a two-hitter for one of the Mets' victories over Cincinnati in the National League playoffs. I was scared to death in the playoffs. There's a lot more pressure there. Even if you lose the Series, at least you were there representing your league."
THE FACT the Mets

were in the playoffs, much less the Series, is startling.

"I didn't think we'd win "I didn't think we'd win it when We were 12½ games out of the lead in July." admitted the Mets' Willie Mays who's closing out his brilliant career the same way he started—in a World Series.

The Mets won only three more games than they lost during the regular they lost during the regu-lar season -82-79 - but still had enough to win the N.L. East by 1½ games. Then they won three of five to knock off heavily-favored Cincinnati in the playoffs.

"If you'd seen how this team played over the last six weeks," said Mays, arguing Jackson's point of who are the Mets, "you'd understand that we deserve to be here." In the last six weeks the Mets won 20 of their 28 games won 20 of their 28 games. Replied Jackson:

said what I thought and I'm being criticized. My teammales think the same way, but they're not putting it on the line the way I do. I was hoping Cincinnati would win the N.L. title again because when you beat the Reds, you beat the best."

Brooks Robinson, a member of the Baltimore Orioles who lost to the A's in the American League finals, snickered to himself when told of Jackson's remark.

"He should wise up," said B. Robbie. "Those guys can kill you."

He should know. He was there when the Mets shocked the world-not to mention the Orioles-to win the 1969 Series.

The A's are attempting become the first team other than the New York Yankees to win successive world titles since the New York Giants in 1921-22. Four other teams have tried—and failed—in the last 20 years: the Brook-lyn Dodgers in 1956, the Milwaukee Braves in '58, the St. Louis Cardinals in 68 and the Orioles in '71.

The Series figures to go the same way as the playoffs-pitching, pitching and more pitching.

The Saints kept the score respectable with QB Terrence Carney figuring in all their points: a sixyard TD pass in the secand period, a one-yard keeper in the fourth quar-ter and a two-point PAT throw.

But Carney suffered

Autumn Classic . . . it's that time

If you are an American and an ounce of red blood flows in your veins, you hear the cry "World Series" and you remove your headpiece and stiffen your back

TRULY, THIS IS THE AUTUMN CLASSIC.

As the masses are held in this spell, few pause to contemplate the incredible manner in which the World Series endures, indeed survives. Services should be held, verses spoken and songs sung. Commemorative items should be distributed with savings accounts.

You see, the World Series is staged under the auspicies of an institution known as organized baseball. In a society in a hurry, most things are given initials and organized baseball is therefore often called O.B.

It was the mental force behind O.B. that this season adopted a new rule establishing a position known as the designated hitter, most often referred to as the D.H. This is a man who appears at bat in place of the pitcher who is conceiled to be a weakling. untalented in the art of hitting.

Widely heralded as a oreakthrough in a game traditionally resistant to change, the D.H. proved popular and was generally approved. The D.H., however, was used in only one of O.B.'s two leagues and is waived for the World Series.

WHAT IS MORE, NO CHANGE IS INDICATED

It was the mental force behind O.B. that this year deadlocked itself on the issue of an interlocking schedule. That is to say, the teams of the American League would play some games in the National League and vice versa.

The American League being in favor and the National against, it was obvious to call for a deciding vote from the czar of O.B., commissioner Bowie K.

Sharks staying despite Bloom

Dr Leonard Bloom, the San Diego dentist who hired Will Chamberlain to coach his basketball team, owns options to buy controlling interest in the Sharks of the World Hockey Assn., league and Shark officials said Friday.

Dennis Murphy, president of the Sharks, stressed that no matter what happens to Bloom's plan to build an arena in Chula Vista, near San Diego, the Sharks will remain in Los Angeles.

"He's an owner but not the controlling owner," Gary L. Davidson, WHA president, said, "but he has an option to buy controlling interest from seven or eight guys. At a later time he might."

Bloom, owner of the San Diego Conquistadors of the American Basketball Assn., became involved with the Sharks last season when he "stepped in and took over the operating loss," Davidson said. The Sharks lost about $500,000 in 1972-73, the WHA's first year. Bloom was unavailable for comment.

Lakewood didn't wait long to assert itself, going 33 yards with the opening kickoff in 12 plays as tail-back Don Dorazio covered the final eight at 5:34 to account for the first touchdown. Bill Raine, who before the game was over would run his PAT string this season to 15 without a miss, made it 7-

A circus eatch by tight end Dave Nester who dived, bobbled, then held on to the ball, covered 45 yards and put the Lancers in good position to score from the 19.

Chislock picked off a poorly thrown pass by Don quarterback Tony Licitra that was behind the intended receiver and went 45 yards down the east sidelines on the last play of the first quarter for the second TD.

The defense later made two big plays in the second quarter that all but decided the outcome.

El Rancho, which at times, used both its quarterbacks, Licitra and Gabe Ronquillo, in the same backfield, crossed up the Lancers when Ronquillo pitched back to Licitra who fired a 40-yard completion to Fran Alberts for a first and goal on the gight goal on the eight.

The score was only 14-0 at the time. Three rushing plays got the ball as far as the two and on fourth down Licitra rolled left only to be dragged down from behind at the line of scrimmage by Dan Binning.

Bob Krigbaum recovered a fumble by Hector Gonzales 2:05 before half at midflield and Lakewood was on its way again. Martinson quickly went to Gillies for 41 yards, then to Steve Toucey for another 7 to make

Pistons far too slippery

Atlanta coach Cotton Fitzsimmons thought something was slippery and he began protesting. He said the floor in De-treit's Cobo Arena was too slippery for combat and he immediately protested Friday night's National Basketball Assn. game, between his Hawks and the Detroit Pistons.

As it developed, the floor wasn't as slippery as the Pistons, who blitzed the Hawks, 122-105, as Bob Lanier and Curtis Rowe tossed in 20 and 19 points for the winners.

It was two nights earlier that the Cobo floor was ruled unplayable and a game between Detroit and Golden State was halted when conditions becane impossible for the players.

Flitzsimmons, possibly getting a hint of what was to come, complained to the referee. Manny Sokol, that the floor wasn't any better than it was the other night. But Sokol overruled Fitzsimmons. Pete Maravich tossed in 27 for the Hawks, despite the ice-like conditions of the floor, and Lou Hudson added 21.

Are Cougars funny? SC doesn't think so

By LOEL SCHRADER Staff Writer

Everyone laughed when Jim Sweeney set out to do a little bragging to touring Pacific-8 Conference football writers visiting Pullman, Wash., six weeks ago.

"Yes, our personnel is as good as they have at USC and UCLA," said the provocative Irishman in response to a question. "You won't find three better linebackers anywhere than Tom Poe, Clyde Warehime and Gary Larsen."

Not even USC's Richard Wood, Charles Anthony and James Sims?

"They are equal to Wood, Anthony and Sims," replied the Washington State coach, his eyes flashing. As Sweeney's Cougars go into a 1:30 p.m. game with USC today in the Coli-seum, everyone still is laughing at him. Washington State is 1-3, with only a 51-24 victory over hapless Idaho marring an otherwise perfect loss record.

But Sweeney hasn't thrown in the towel, probably for good reason.
"You might notice that of the three teams we've lost games to, Ohio State is ranked No. 1, Arizona State No. 11 and Kansas No. 19," he said upon arrival in the Southland Friday.

Yet Sweeney isn't satisfied with the way his team is performing.

"I still feel we should be a strong football team," he asserted. "We're going to shake up things a little Saturday to try to get going."

Sweeney said he planned to move

Wally Bennett into the No. 1 quarter-backing position ahead of Chuck Peck and Mike Mitchell, both tested and found wanting in the first four games.
"Bennett has moved our offense best," said Sweeney of Bennett, who completed 7 of 10 passes during a 27-3 loss to Ohio State last weekend. Bennett has completed 10 of 19 for the season. Bennett, who is 6-6, also has gained 48 yards in 15 rushing attempts.

wins - tonight against Pacific, next Friday night against Fresno State in Veterans Stadium and Nov. 10 at San Diego State.

That trio of triumphs coupled with an "ifer" or two (i.e., if San Diego State beats San Jose State) would allow the 49ers to win that third PCAA crown and tie the LBSU school record for most losses (seven).

No one knows what kind of a Pacific team the 49ers will encounter in tonight's contest, which begins at 7:30.

The Tigers were many people's choice, including this writer's, as the preseason favorite to win the conference football title.

Pacific hasn't really done anything to forfeit that position, but the Tigers haven't done much to enhance it, either. After four games, Pacific is 2-1-1

The loss was to Wyoming, 49-14, and the tie was in the PCAA opener with San Jose State last week. The Tigers had a 21.0 lead over the Spartans in the third quarter before San Jose rallied for a 21-all draw.

"We don't know how the team is going to react to that tie." Pacific sports information director Tony Sauro reports. "Everyone took it like a loss.
"Nobody is sure how the team is going to react because, so far, we have-n't played well. Last year, every time we needed it, someone would come up with a big play. This year we haven't been able to do that."

The 49ers are glad to know that someone else has problems, too.

49ER FOOTNOTES: Last year's Pacific Long Beach game also was played at Stockton. The 49ers are back because LBSU officials felt they would make more money here than playing in Long Beach. They are probably right. Athletes from both clubs met Friday night when, by circumstance, they attended the same movie. Fullback SCOTT WARD is disappointed that he WARD is disappointed that he

Ward will be Towne's best man when the Pacific junior is married next summer... The series be-tween the schools is even at 44, with Pacific holding a 2-1 edge in PCAA encounters. The wid-cst margin of victory has been four points — 14-10 — a score Pacific ran up in last year's game.

Botts birdied the final two holes to keep his 70 string alive. The 17th, a par-5, is not difficult, but the 18th is a treacherous 225-yard par-3 which has produced as many bogies as pars in this tournament. Botts belted a 3wood into the wind and sank a 24-fool putt.

HOWE, HOWE. . . AND HOWE!

Alltime National Hockey League great Gordie Howe debuts in World Hockey Assn. with sons Marty, 19, and Mark, 18, when Houston plays Sharks at L.A. Sports Arena tonight.

Gordie and sons -Howe about that?

By AL LARSON Staff Writer

The Sharks will comre suarks will compete tonight against CBS' TV show "All in the Family," and Rowe — with the Gordie Howe Family.

Gordie Howe, the author of several pages of NHL records and generally regarded as the most complete bookey player in the history of the game, makes his comeback to-night when the Houston Aeros engage the Sharks in their World Bockey Assn. opener at the L.A. Sports Arena. Faceoff is 8 o'clock and a crowd of 11,-900 is expected.

At the age of 45, Howe is ending two winters of retirement to become the first man in any major league sport to play alongside his sons.

It happens after 25 years with the Detroit Red Wings as he dons the blue and white of the Aeros to skate alongside sons Mark, 18, and Marty, 19. Gordie signed a multi-million dollar package with Houston spread over five years. He'll play one season for the Aeros, then serve four years in the front office.

There are those who insist Howe can't come back. Coach Bill Dineen proclaims that Gordie's good for 35 goals. After the performance Howe rendered in New York in the Aeros' first exhibition outing when he scored 25 seconds into his first shift, the critics are already thinning out.
The Sharks felt his sting, too. The teams split their recent exhibition series, L.A. winning 3-2 and Houston taking a 5-3 decision in which Gordie box on five minor penalties and one five-minute major for high sticking when he drew blood from one of the Sharks.

The greatest scorer in the history of the NHL was disgruntled about his future with the Wings.

"One night after expansion, 1968 I think it was, I was having a beer with a guy who had come to us from Oakland." Howe recalls. "The guy told me what he was getting and it was more than me. I found out soon after another guy was getting more, too. That was when I really got mad. I nearly Gordie was vice-president for the Wings the past two years, but said his "Participation in the operation of the club ended the day I stopped playing. I wasn't told about anything before. hand, wasn't consulted, and wasn't given anything important to do. The league offered me

$50,000 to go along with my $50,000 with Detroit after they learned Hous-ton had made me a big offer to join them. I said: 'It's funny it took you four years to come around to that."

Last year the Sharks locked up the season series 6-3-1 but dropped a six- game playoff to the Aeros. Last year's opening night crowd of 11,430 saw Houston beat L.A. 3-2. The Sharks' biggest turnout in their maiden season was 12,804 for the Sunday morning eye-opener with Ottawa.

Davidson, who will step down shortly to concentrate on the proposed World Football League. says World Hockey will thrive even more in its second season.

SHARK BITES: The addition of Marc Tartif, a left-winger from Montreal who coach Terry Slater calls a "potential superstar." No. 1 draft choice Heg Thomas at center and right-wingers Ron Walters and Don Gordon should adid considerable firepower to the Shark attack Gary Veneruzzo, who led the Sharks in scoring with 3 gails last season, has been moved to right wing. Russ Gitlow will start in goal tonight. Howe produced these records: most games played. 1841; most goals, 786; most assists, 1923; most points, 1808. He was selected to the all-star team 21 times. Houston is staying at the Quality Inn by L.A. International Airport.

The Sharks were involved in the most overtime last year, a total of $6:03 minutes spread ever 10 games.

Hunters Star, the Cinderella story of the 1973 Western Harness meeting. will shoot for his fifth consecutive victory at Hollywood Park tonight.

Of five rugged rivals trying to snap his win streak, the distaffer Huff N Puff appears the most likely.

Huff N Puff has drawn the rail and Hunters Star post five for the one-mile dash that will go as the third race on a nine-race program. Others in the field are Mr. Jazz, Mi Grande Amigo, Hoover and Judge.

Hunters Star has been nothing short of sensational thus far at the meeting. winning with ease time after time and always traveling a little faster than he did previously.

Last week the five-year-old converted trotter paced his mile in 1:58%. routing his foes by 514lengths. He has won his last four starts by a combined total of 29 lengths.

the flyweight title by knocking out Betulio Gonzales of Venezuela on Sept. 29, 1972, in the 10th round. Then he outpointed Erbito Salvarria of The Philippines last March. Then he outgrew the flyweights.

"I want another title," said Borkorsor through an interpreter, "I haven't seen Herrera fight, but I think I can beat him."

Venice gets some sup-port from fans who have watched him drill at the Elks Club — the same site for Herrera's workouts. Although Borkorsor opened a 2-1 underdog.

The winner of the Herrera-Borkorsor fight has agreed to defend the bantamweight title against Romeo Anaya of Mexico to clear up the championship picture in the 118-pound division.

Anaya is recognized as the champion by the World Boxing Assn.

To get the match, promoter Don Fraser offered $150,000 to be equally divided between the two champions.

For the WBC title match. Herrera collects $50,000 on a guarantee and Borkersor $17,500.

Neither fighter is expected to have trouble making the weight limit at the noon weigh-in.

AAU DECIDES THORPE AMATEUR AFTER ALL

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. P. The Amateur Athletic Union Friday restored the amateur standing of fabled Indian athlete Jim Thorpe. who starred in the 1912 Olympics only to be stripped of his gold medals on allegations that he was a professional.

The board of governors of the AAU tonay moved to restore Thorpe as an amateur for the period of 1909-12.

The AAU move clears the way for intercession on Thorpe's behalf by the United States Olympic Committee with the International Olympic Com-mittee, which stripped Thorpe of his medals in 1913.

The AAU cannot restore Thorpe's medals, but will send a letter to the structure to house memorabilia of Thorpe's athletic career and an Oklahoma athletic hall of fame.

The motion to restore his amateur standing passed unopposed, despite an undercurrent of opposition within the AAU.

Opponents were led by Daniel J. Ferris, an AAU delegate to the International Amateur Athletic Federation. He said a movement to restore Thorpe's standing and insert his name in Olympic record books could jeopardize the AAU's standing within the international federation.

There was no mention of the opposition when the matter came up for a Thorpe died in 1951, bitter about losing his Olympic medals because he had played semi-professional baseball two summers preceding his entry in the 1912 Olympics.

During the Olympics. Thorpe won both the decathlon and pentathlon the only man in Olympic history to capture gold medals in both.

UNITAS ON BENCH AS FOUTS NO. 1 SAN DIEGO (2) -

Forty-year-old Johnny Unitas holds almost all National Football League passing records and 22-year-old Dan Fouts doesn't hold any.

But when the San Diego
Chargers go on offense Sunday against the Oak-land Raiders, it'll be Fouts on the field and Unitas on the bench. Ch rgers' coach Harland Svare announced his decision to sit Unitas down Friday.

"Unitas needs a gest," declared Svare. "He can play, but he is sore."

The Chargers have won just one of four games and Unitas has done little to merit his estimated $150,000-year contract. He left in the second quarter with San Diego down 38-0.

Fouts, a third-round draft choice out of Oregon, hit on 11 of 21 tosses for 174 yards in the second half, racing up 21 points in the process.

Eddie Fisher 'Resurfacing'

By MICHAEL MITCHELL

SPARKS, Nev. (A) The next installment in the Eddie Fisher Story is on its way, and the man in the title role is hoping it'll be happier than the most recent chapters.

In 1966, Fisher recorded, an album called "Games Lovers Play." one of the most successful of his turbulent career. Two years later he gave up recording altogether, and since then the former singing idol of the 1950s has struggled with music, his past and him-

Now 45, Fisher says he is ready to "resurface."

WHEN HE finished his current engagement at John Ascuaga's Nugget this week, he will return to Los Angeles to plan a coordinated campaign designed to recapture the fame he once enjoyed.

Fisher says he will begin recording in earnest and will rehearse a new act, possibly a full-blown stage production, which he hopes to premier at the Las Vegas Hilton the beginning of next year.

"I want to be a great entertainer," Fisher said in an interview, staring pensively over his wire-rimmed spectacles. "I was almost a great enter-tainer once, then I let go. At the height of his popularity, the handsome, boyish singer, was the undisputed king of the pop record charts, earning an estimated $750,000 a year.

He was portrayed as the all-American boy and when he married actress Debbie Reynols, their marriage was dubbed the perfect match.

'I was a typical American boy who was lucky to be born with a frog in my throat," Fisher says now.
"I could sing loud, I surprised the audience because of this big loud voice that came out of this little body.

I DON'T KNOW how it all happened. I just opened my mouth and sang. I was lucky from the beginning. When I sang, I couldn't get a word out before the screaming would start. It shocked me at first, then I loved it so much that when it stopped I was very disappointed.

When he divorced Miss Reynolds in 1959 to marry actress Elizabeth Taylor. Fisher encountered a barrage of criticism and his career began a tailspin.

"Something happened that people at that time couldn't understand." he says. "The press created triangle where I left a little girl with pigtails and two children for a femme fatale, which is a lot of ence was the most traumatic of his life. "I KNEW inside that it was a very unstable thing, and definitely not the thing to do," he said. "But the break-up o' my second marriage a ...te me start thinking that you've got to take life a little bit serious." Fisher said he doesn't really know why he married a third time — to singer-actress Connic Stevens — but he said jok-ingly: "The best advice I've ever been given was to not marry an actress. Anyone who marries an actress is an idiot. Anyone who marries two actresses should be put up against a wall and shot at dawn. But three actresses? I don't know what that makes me." In October 1967 Miss Stevens bore Pisher a daughter and they announced that they had been married secretly. Another daughter was born to the couple in 1968. but four months later their marriage collapsed.

In 1970, Fisher, once a millionaire, filed for bank ruptcy.

This was the lowest point of my life," he said.
"I seriously considered quitting show business. What would I have done? Fix Buicks I guess."

Fisher believes a combination of circumstances eaused him to lose the fame he had won so effortlessly.

I think it was my music and my unusual personal life that did it. At first the public didn't want me to get married, then I was involved in a triangle, then another triangle. This was all very tough to cope with."

But Fisher said it made him grow up.

"For a long period of my life I never lost anyone who was close to me. And not having a hit record? I didn't know what that meant. Finally I didn't record at all . . .
"I was a boy for a long time, much longer than realized. I thought that once you grabbed the brass ring, you didn't have to work any more. But once you have the brass ring you have to work even harder."

FOR IIIS new act and album, Fisher says he will scrap his current repertoire for fresher. more meaningful music.

"I definitely will not do nostalgia," he said. "It has to be new, slightly unexpected and it has to express what has been part of my life.

"I want to prove something to myself and the public, I feel I know something about performing and showmanship. [4] take what I've learned over the years and use new material by new people who are very clever.

You have to stun people. It has to all be there -- timing, Talent, the right place; and then you have to hit that home run.

"What I'm going to attempt is very tough at my age because there are so many good performers around, but it'll happen if I want it to happen.

Fisher paused and added, "People think I'm dead. I would like to have an audience see me perform and go out thinking how great I was.

'Reynolds at Leavenworth'

By BOB MARTIN TV-Radio Editor

When Merie Haggard learned Burt Reynolds was going to host a TV special at Leavenworth Penitentiary, he got in touch with Burt and asked to be on the show.

The country music star had a special reason for wanting to perform for the inmates. He spent three years in prison himself — at San Quentin.

Haggard and his band, the Strangers, are among the entertainers on "Burl Reynolds at Leavenworth Penitentiary, a 90-minute music variety special starting at 11:30 to-night on NBC (Channel 4).

THE SHOW, filmed entirely on location at the federal prison near Leavenworth. Kan., is the premiere presentation of The Burt Reynolds Late Show," a series of six special entertainment shows which will air about once a month on NBC in weekend late-night time peri-

Chilean ex-prof sees CIA role in strike

Do Americans want their tax monies financing strikes, coups and terror tactics in Chile?

Roberto Hernandez, a former political science professor at the Universiprotessor at the University of Conception, Chile, posed the question to 200 listeners at Long Beach State University Friday.

Hernandez said that the Central Intelligence Agencia university for the control of the con

MARKETS ON PAGES C-2 to C-4 County contract costs

Savings seen for six cities under new law

Independent Press-Telegram

By LARRY LYNCH Staff Writer

predicted that the city will save $100,000 a year under a new law that could be the final milestone of a 15-year fight over how the county allo-cates overhead charges to contract cities.

In a statement analyzing the effect of the successful legislation, framed and pushed by his city's staff, Mayor Mark Hanna-ford said: "Although the full effect of the legislation will not be known until the county Board of unti the county Board of Supervisors acts to change cost policies, the significant reductions for the city ... will be in sheriff's contracts, street maintenance contracts, and building-engineering services.

IF LAKEWOOD'S savings do approach $100,000 then the five cities with which it shares sheriff's protection should save a combined $160,000 on law enforcement.

And when savings on other contract services are figured in, a reduction of some $200,000 in con-tract costs could be split among Artesia, Bellflow-er. Cerritos, Hawaiian Gardens and Paramount.

Other contract cities in the southern end of the county, such as Carson and Norwalk, also will save on sheriff's fees and other contract charges.

THE LEGISLATION -AB 2059 — was carried by Assemblyman Joe Gon-salves, whose district includes a portion of Lake-wood as well as other con-

The measure's effect is to limit the amount of overhead the county can charge to that directly attributable to the contract service.

The language requires the county to determine which services are countywide in nature and to exclude the cost of those services from the contract charge.

Lakewood officials and councilmen in other con-tract cities have held that the taxpayers of their cities support much of the county's fixed overhead twice, first when they pay property taxes and second through the overhead charges on their contract arrangements.

Over the last 15 years this issue has been consistently reviewed by county grand juries and

Giant jet fuel savings seen in JetPlan system

Associated Press

Lockheed Aircraft Service Co. has come up with a system which it says can save U.S. airlines and eargo carriers a billion gallons of jet fuel annually.

It comes at a time when the energy crisis is demanding fuel conservation all through the ranks of vehicles from jalopies to jet giants.

The Ontario, Calif.-based subsidiary of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. calls its computerized flight planning system JetPlan. It has been three years in development and is being used by 60 airlines, charter operators and making the state of the system of the sy tors and major corporations.

R. M. WILLS, aviation services manager of Lockheed Aircraft Service, says JetPlan could result in a 10 to 15 per cent savings in fuel over the same number of miles traveled in about the same time.

U.S. airlines flew more than 150 billion revenue passenger miles and five billion freight and cargo-fon miles in 1972. During the same period, U.S. airlines and supplemental carriers and foreign airlines flying in this country consumed nearly 10 billion gallons of jet fuel.

Wills says operators using JetPlan report they have saved as much as 3,000 pounds of fuel and six minutes of time on a typical DCS international flight. Fuel savings for the Boeing 707 and Convair 990 have been running as high as 16 per cent, he adds.

U.S. government representatives are investigating the fuel savings potential of the system, according to Lockheed.

HERE IS HOW JetPlan works:

The pilot or dispatcher prior to the flight contacts the JetPlan computer center at Palo Alto and furnishes information on the type of aircraft, destination and

Within seconds the computer sends back via portable data terminal, telex, TWX or ARINC-SITA domestic and international airline communications network custom tailored flight profiles that automatically incorporate the latest weather data on high winds and temperatures along the route, and provide, among other information, the distances, flight altitude and fuel

In this way, the pilot is advised of the best possible route, at the correct speed and altitude, to get him to his destination in either minimum time or with minimum fuel consumption.

JETPLAN computers store information on more than 45 different types of civil aircraft, from the smallest jet and turboprop executive aircraft to jumbo jets. In addition, the computers receive, doublecheck and store weather data from the National Weather Center at Suitland, Md., and Kansas City, Mo., to provide on demand worldwide flight planning and weather advisory services tailored to each customer's

PSA wants to fly national

SAN DIEGO (2) — Pacific Southwest Airlines, the California commuter line with pretty girls and 193 flights daily, is eyeing the lucrative wild blue yonder.

After building the nation's most successful intrastate airline, PSA's dapper chairman and chief executive officers we he wants to go national arms. says he wants to go na-

"We find we are beginning to saturate the California market," said J. Floyd Andrews. "So our long-range goal is to gain certification so that we can fly to other parts of the United States.

"It has to be tong-range because it is a very difficult thing to come by. You just don't walk into regulatory agency and say I have so and so to offer and here I am."

Andrews was one of the World War II veterans who took GI flight training and, along with others in his group, founded PSA with a single leased DC2 in 1949. Last year PSA carried more than six million passengers.

But efforts to expand in California sidelines faltered. An agreement to buy Air California, a small commuter line, was terminated this year by a Justice Department threat citing the Clayton Antitrust Act. And the return on four PSA hotels has been disappointing.

Andrews says the hotels "at the present noment are a complete flop" al-thought two, the San Franciscan and the float-ing Queen Mary, have im-proved their financial picture recently.

Meanwhile, PSA is applying to the California Public Utilities Commission to start a direct route between Long Beach, San nonstop between Ontario and Sacramento. Its planes fly already between San Jose and San Diego and between San Jose and Los Augeles and the Hollywood-Burbank airport. Although Andrews calls most of PSA's routes money-makers, he says "We've missed the mark, at least temporarily, in a few spots." The Ontario-San Francisco route "isn't a loser, but it isn't a maker of money either," he adds.

And Fresno after a year has failed to produce revenue, particularly on the Stockton flights.

Income fell short of expectations in the first half of 1973 with net return of $747,000 or 20 cents a share, down from $2.7 million earned in the same period last year.

The loss from PSA's hotel and broadcasting operations reached $1.052 million compared with a $436,000 loss in the same six months of 1972. Last month, a 4.9 per cent fare increase went into effect and in May the airline was authorized to charge 34 cents a passenger to recover the expenses of new antihijacking security ordered by the government.

PSA's FM radio stations are KEZM in Los Angeles, KEZL in San Diego, KEZR in San Jose and KEZS in Sacramento.
In contrast to the first

DC2, the airline now flies 19 Boeing 727 jetliners and 10 of the Boeing 737s.

"PSA gives you a lift" is the motto, but an official of the San Diego airline says he may revise it when the first of five 300seat Lockheed L1011 planes arrives next May.

"We're thinking about changing it to 'PSA gives you a bigger lift'," he

More security for customer accounts

A new type of expanded insurance that increases coverage for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith customer accounts has been announced by Chairman Donald Regan and President George Shinn.

In an agreement with Surety Aetna Life and Casualty the brokerage firm's insurance in effect for the securities in customers' accounts will be increased to $300,000.

Commenting on the new financial protection, Regan and Shinn said: "At times worry about condi-tions on Wall Street affects the investment decisions that individuals make. "The new protection in such large amounts should eliminate all such concerns for Merrill Lynch customers.

Morigages? Don't talk about them to commercial bankers. A home mortgage is to them a somewhat worthless invest-ment today. Why buy money at 10 per cent and then lend it out at only 8 per cent — and for 30 years — just because state usury laws say you can't go higher?

The reason, they maintain, is that the banks have moved into their territory with "flying card" rates, or rates free of limitation on funds left for four years or more. The two institutions are fighting for turf.

THOSE aren't the only industries in which bankers are considered intruders. Stock brokers think the banks are intentionaleroding the terms of the Glass-Steagall Act, which since the mid-1930s has separated investment from commercial bank-

THE DAILY INVESTOR Tricky but rewarding

ple tell me to invest in property as you never can go wrong. I recently talked with my wise old land was a good invest-ment, but you must know what you're doing and buy it when it's low. He suggested that - as I am very inexperienced — I should invest in mutual funds. Not knowing much in this area, either, he told me to write to you for some concrete advice. I am single and have an income of $160 a week. I believe 1 could afford about $30 a month. What do you suggest I do with my money to be able to invest now and be more

A: Your grandfather makes a pretty good point, but don't let him point, but don't let film scare you away from real estate as an investment indefinitely. True, it can be tricky, but it's also re-warding. Eventually, you will want to go this route, and your introduction to it will probably be via home ownership - quite an education in itself. With this under your helt, and with considerable reading on the subject, you can branch out into more sophisticated real estate investments.

In the meantime, of course, the mutual fund idea is a good one. With your lack of experience I'd suggest that you go to a conventional mutual fund and sign up for a fund and sign up for a contractual plan with a growth fund. With virtual-ly all of them sharply depressed in the backwash of the recent stock market weakness, it's an excellent time to begin such a plan.

I'd suggest that you drop into a local broker's office and put yourself in its hands. Don't let them sell you participation in a mutual fund offering a State laws vary all over the countryside on this matter and a lawyer's guidance is essential. A variety of papers will be entailed, such as faxwaiver forms to establish that all state and federal laxes have been satisfied and; of course, a copy of the will is also needed. But, as I say, it'll take a lawyer to lead you through this maze.

None of these certificates is in my name, or in any way related to me. If some of these certificates did prove to be of some value, what steps would be required to have them transferred to my name?

An opportunity for your youngster

Newspaper route management teaches youngsters to deal with people

A youngster with a newspaper route earns money that can help to get the things a child wants, even a college education.

More than that, newspaper carriers learn life's important lessons. One of these is how to deal with people.

Meeting customers on the route, collecting and servicing, carriers gain this valuable business competence. It helps them throughout life. Many former newspaper carriers, notable successes among them, have told us

Your newspaper carrier also applies the arithmetic learned in the classroom in a practical way, by making change and handling bills . . . thus becoming a better student. A carrier learns, too, the value of promptness and of good manners.

In fact, you'll find that a newspaper carrier manages to keep a step ahead of other voungsters in preparing for life . . . building a bank account.

Should your youngster be inclined to move a step ahead, let us know. There may be a route available in your neighborhood. And along with it . . . the opportunity for the self-advancement your child wants.

Nixon orders allocation of home heating, jet fuels

WASHINGTON & — The Nixon administration reluctantly adopted a mandatory allocation program governing wholesale distribution of home heating oil governing wholesate distribution of nome hearing oil Friday while Congress moved steadily closer to forcing a mandalory program for all petroleum products.

The administration's limited program, which takes effect Nov. 1, requires suppliers to distribute home heating oil, jet fuel, kerosene, diesel fuel, range oil, stove oil and gas oil to their customers in proportion to purchases made in calendar 1972.

The administration on Oct. 2 imposed a similar attocation program on propane gas, but so far there is no government control over the distribution of crude oil or of gasoline and other petroleum products.

Legislation wending its way through Congress would require mandatory allocation of all petroleum products and crude oil.

The House Rules Committee cleared the bill for a floor vote with a vote of 11 to 3 on Thursday, over the protests of White House energy adviser John A. Love.
Love had pressed throughout the summer for a fair distribution of petroleum fuels through voluntary industry compliance with federal guidelines.

But he admitted on Oct. 2 that voluntary compliance was not working and that home heating oil and the other "middle distillates" would be placed under a mandatory program.

The allocation regulations issued Friday set aside 10 per cent of available supplies for distribution by each state government to hardship cases.

The regulations does not, however, propose any list of consumers or uses which should get priority consid-

It said all of the uses were important. In fact, the wast bulk of the supply is in home heating oil, which, in itself, represents a major priority.

The White House has said the aim of the regulations is to make sure that homes and hospitals do not go cold this winter.

Administration officials had predicted the possibility of a heating oil shortage of from 100,000 to 800,000 barrels per day this winter, depending on weather and refining capacity. The problem has been complicated by the Middle East situation.

The regulations bar the states from accumulating or deferring their 10 per cent hardship reserves and any state reserve which is not assigned during any month will return to the supply pool for proportional allocation.

Violations of the program will be punishable by fines up to $5,000.

The Civil Aeronautics Board immediately authorized the nation's airlines to get together and decide which flights each could eliminate. And TWA announced it was unilaterally cutting ack on the number of flights it operates until the industry decides how many flights each carrier would eliminate. A TWA spokesman said the airline would temporarily eliminate about 5 per cent of its domestic operations over the next few weeks.

on Sept. 25, the PUC asked PG&E, Southern California Edison and San Diego Gas & Electric Co: to prepare emergency plans for power curtail-ments.

De Young estimated that PG&E power plants, which required fewer than three million barrels of oil in 1972, would need 43 million barrels next year.

He said in addition to the emergency plans and the warning to industrial plants, PG&E was urging all its customers to make the most efficient use of electricity.

chancellor Sidney Brossman's office has been splintered by "a lack of officewide goals, policies, and objectives," the re-port said. "The lack of planning has caused the office to be operated on a management by crisis basis rather than by priority planning.

At the same time, the Board of Governors has operated on the basis of finding out what local districts want "and then to work from that position." the report said.

BROSSMAN said in an interview he was "trying

But Bossman said while the report makes some good suggestions, the law states clearly that each college have a "maximum degree of local con-trol." He added that the board takes the word "maximum" very seriimmediately on the report's criticisms.

Burton offers to debate tax San Francisco

gets U.S. aid SACRAMENTO (UPb = Democratic state Chair-SACRAMENTO (UPI) man John L. Burton The City and County of Friday challenged a lead-San Francisco were awarded a $150.000 federer of the California Taxpayers Association to deal grant Friday for a bate Gov. Reagan's tax "Postal Street Academy limitation initiative.

Burton, a San Francisco Assemblyman who opposes the initiative, issued the challenge to Robert president of the association, which is a major supporter of Prop. 1 on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Brown earlier this week offered to stand in for Reagan to debate Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti. D-Van Nuys, but Moretti refused Brown's challenge. Reagan earlier had declined a Moretti debate challenge. Burton said members of the association "stand to gain most from the pas-sage of Prop. 1" and "aecordingly contributed most to the financing of this campaign.1

A spokesman for the association had no comment on Burton's challenge.

Laser-sighted rifle

One of over 150 Dade and Broward County law enforcement officers uses a laser-sighted rifle manufactured by American International Corp. as it was demonstrated at the Fl. Lauderdale, Fla., police rifle range.

The .22 caliber automatic rifle can fire 20 rounds a second. The laser mounted below the barrel emits a red light which is visible up to several miles away.

An AEC spokesman most serious said a letter to guards was approved by chairman Dixy Lee Ray and the five-member commission. The spokesman said it was coincidental that the instructions were sent out Wednesday as conflict again raged in the Middle Similar orders were issued several years ago by the Pentagon.

The AEC spokesman said Army Maj. Gen. Frank A. Camm, assistant general manager for military applications, had been worried that terrorists might attempt to steal a nuclear weapon.

AEC guards protect nu-clear devices during shipment around the United States before they are turned over to the military for escort overseas and in stockpiles here and abroad.

The guards have always been armed and thus had the implicit authority to use their weapons, the spokesman said.

The instructions were written out for the first time to emphasize to the guards their "tremendous responsibility ... (and) the quences on the safety of the U.S. public" inherent in the loss of any nuclear weapon.
The letter told supervisors to give guards clear, positive orders on the use of their firearms."

"In particular, they are expected to discharge their firearms with the intent of hitting and, if necessary, killing the per son or persons being fired on if such action is the minimum amount of force necessary to prevent the illicit loss.

The outbreak of the Middle East conflict, in which the Arabs fear the Israelis have and may use nuclear weapons not available to Egypt and Syria, heightened apprehension over a possible attempt by terrorists to get a nuclear warhead.

While a nuclear device would not be simple to trigger, officials said knowledge of nuclear weaponry has been widely dispersed since World War II. and each passing year increases the number of people acquainted with the necessary tech-

Youth discloses dynamite cache

REDDING (2)— An "educationally handic apped" youth brought five sticks of dynamite to school Friday and ended up showing officers where he nicked up the explopolice spokesman said.

About 10 persons live in the rural area surrounding the 17-year-old youth's wooden frame house, but police said they had no immediate plans to evacu-ate the area while they awaited arrival of an Army bomb disposal team.

"It's really dangerous. It's bad stuff. I imagine a case would probably turn your sunglasses around if it went off," said Vernon Westrip, a Redding Police Department spokesman.

AUTHORITIES first heard of the dynamite when fellow students turned the 17-year-old youth's find over to a Shasta High School secretary and she phoned police Friday morning.

An investigation deter-the dynamite under a per-mit that expired April 27, ly because he is a minor, showed officers a 212 footcontaining an undetermined number of dynamite sticks in the backyard of his family's home.

"The stuff in the case is very unstable," explained Westrip, who said officers were guarding the house in the unincorporated community of Central Valley about seven miles north of Redding.

He added police were awaiting the arrival of a bomb disposal unit from the U.S. Army Explosive Ordinance Depot at Her-long in Lassen County.

The unit planned to dispose of the dynamite in an open area in the Shasta County foothills about three miles north of the youth's home, he said.

WESTRIP added the youth also told police there were more explosives in a shed in the backyard behind his home and said the youth told officers it was "boobytrapped.'

Asked if that meant the shed would explode if someone tried to enter it. Westrip replied. We don't know if his story is true or not. The kid is slow educationally handicapped Students
